Administrators & Teachers from all disciplines welcome!*

In times of tight budgets, constricted and even scripted curriculums, and low teacher morale, teachers need more than ever ideas and inspiration to spark confidence and a love for writing in today's students. This conference will offer sessions where SAWP teacher consultants will share successful activities they have used in their classroom for the teaching of writing.

Register by sending your name, email and home address, school, and phone number to sawp@utsa.edu
