

Summer Institute 2010

The San Antonio Writing Project Summer Invitational Institute is designed for experienced teachers across all academic disciplines from kindergarten through university level academics.

The Summer Institute is an opportunity for professional growth and development, demonstration of best practices, study of theory, and personal growth through writing.

Benefits of Participating

- 6 hours of paid graduate credit from the University of Texas at San Antonio (includes tuition and fees)
- Opportunities for rewarding and challenging growth through professional development
- The chance to write and learn with other excellent teachers from a diverse background
- After completing the Summer Institute, you become a “Teaching Consultant” for SAWP, able to do in-service for schools in the San Antonio area

Dates of the 2010 Summer Institute

June 7, 2010 – July 8, 2010
Monday through Thursday
from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m at UTSA

Applications Due April 1, 2010

Applications are available online at the SAWP website:

<http://www.sanantoniowritingproject.org>

(Applicants must also apply online to the UTSA Graduate School by April 1, 2010.)

For more information contact:

Dr. Roxanne Henkin, Director
(210) 458-5427--roxanne.henkin@utsa.edu

The San Antonio Writing Project is a local site of the National Writing Project--<http://www.nwp.org/>

The San Antonio Writing Project